TDCJ employees raise more than $1 million in 2016 SECC donations

The 2016 State Employee Charitable Campaign results have been finalized and TDCJ employees have once again raised more than one million dollars in donations for the state's only statutorily authorized workplace fundraising program.

Announcing the 2016 totals, the agency's SECC Coordinator Carrie Beaty credited TDCJ employees and a well-coordinated effort for this year's achievement, saying "Thanks to our generous employees, the agency raised over a million dollars for the second year in row. It is through high levels of generosity, teamwork and supportive leadership that TDCJ was able to once again have a successful campaign."

A total of $1,008,433 in TDCJ employee donations was collected during the 2016 campaign, which marked the 23rd year of SECC operations. As in past years, a majority of those who donated chose to do so through payroll deductions, although cash donation totals were also very high.

Executive Director Bryan Collier commented on the agency's longstanding support for the SECC fundraising campaign, saying "Year after year, TDCJ employees give generously to those in need. The people of Texas are fortunate to have dedicated public servants who not only protect the public, but also give of their time and hard earned money so others may benefit. It is my privilege to lead the men and women who serve the state of Texas as employees of the Department of Criminal Justice." ●
